FROM OUR PASTOR, FATHER AMATO

I was planning on preaching a series of sermons on the Roman Canon (what we now call "Eucharistic Prayer 1") because I find in this ancient prayer of the Mass the entirety of what we believe about how we are to worship God. Each prayer of the Roman Canon is either asking God for some favor or blessing, consecrating the bread and wine, or recalling God's goodness to us through His Paschal Mystery.

A series of catechetical bulletin articles may be better for our purposes here. I want to show you the importance and the beauty of this prayer as you hear it every week, and for you to come to a greater appreciation of how these words give fitting worship to God. We approach this supreme act of worship by first sharing in the very song of the Seraphim who are around the throne of God (Isaiah 6:2-4): Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of Hosts, heaven and earth are full of His glory.

As we enter into this prayer, we must realize its antiquity and its importance for the history of Christendom, wherever the Roman Catholic Church had spread. The words that you hear me pray every week seemed to have remained exactly the same since Pope St. Gregory the Great (AD 590-604; St. Joseph's name was added to the list of saints in 1962). Many of the prayers of the Roman Canon were already set for centuries before St. Gregory. And so, when we pray these words, we pray as every Roman Catholic priest had prayed on all those altars all over Europe and throughout the mission lands for centuries upon centuries. We have inherited this beautiful prayer and Tradition.

The word "canon" comes from a Greek word which simply means "rule." It is the rule of our prayer; it regulates how we offer the Mass. And what exactly are we doing when we "offer the Mass?" The bread and the wine are the necessary matter for this offering, but the essence of the Mass is the "true and real Sacrifice" (as the Council of Trent teaches) of the Son of God to the Father.

But how are we sacrificing Jesus if He already reigns at the right hand of the Father? The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is both a representation of Jesus' own offering of Himself on the Cross, and it is a new act of sacrifice, a true immolation of the Divine Victim on the altar. As an act of sacrifice this is accomplished through the double consecration of the bread and wine into Christ's Body and Blood. His Blood is shed in an unbloody, sacramental manner. The Victim is then offered to the Father as a perfect sacrifice. The Mass re-presents (makes present to us) the Sacrifice of the Cross through these sacramental signs and so we participate in the eternal worship of God in Heaven. Christ died once and so merited for us an infinite treasury of graces. At every Mass, through this act of sacrifice, those graces are applied to us according to God's will and our dispositions.

With these things in mind, we can turn to each of the prayers of the Roman Canon to see its purpose in this perfect act of worship.

In Christ,
Father Amato
